To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing this recommendation letter for my student, Lee Campbell.

I know Lee Campbell because I am his Academic Advisor at Gateway Community & Technical College. Lee is also a student in many of my classes, CIT170, CIT149, CIT144, CIT171, CIT249, and CIT238. Based on Lee's grade, attendance, and class participation, I would rate Lee's academic performance in my classes as superior. He has great sense about programming. He learned QBasic, HTML, JavaScript, and some Network Security knowledge when he was in the 7th and 8th grade. "I was just born with a gift for computers," Lee said himself, and I totally agree. In my classes, Lee always delivers excellent assignments and projects. Lee has strong problem solving skills, self-learning skills, and is easily able to learn new technologies.

Lee's mother passed away when he was 12 years old. His stepfather passed away 2 years later. This sent him down a very dark and destructive path of his teenage years and early twenties. In his late twenties, early thirties, he knew he had to change. He began to rebuild his life, not only physically but mentally as well. As his Academic Advisor, in comparison to his past, I have witnessed these changes firsthand. I should say Lee is a great man. He has great people skills. He is always willing to help other classmates. He has worked incredibly hard to overcome his obstacles and come this far.

As a CIT faculty member of Gateway, I would highly recommend Lee Campbell for this position. If his performance in my classes is any indication of how he will succeed, Lee will be a good addition to your company.
